One day, Amy and Buster were playing in the park when Buster chased after a squirrel. Amy called to him, but he was gone. She searched everywhere for him, but she couldn't find him.

Amy was heartbroken. She didn't know what to do. She went home and cried herself to sleep.

The next morning, Amy woke up determined to find Buster. She went back to the park and started asking people if they had seen him. She put up posters around the neighborhood and offered a reward for his safe return.

Just when Amy was about to give up hope, she got a call from a woman who said she had seen Buster. Amy rushed to the woman's house and found Buster safe and sound.

Amy was so happy to have Buster back. She hugged him tightly and promised never to let him out of her sight again.

Amy's story is a reminder that we should never give up hope. No matter what happens, there is always hope that things will get better.
